

Edgewood Academy Gets New Playground

Terry Williams (photographer)

May 26, 2009

Chris Jensen, center, from Cape Coral, was one of many volunteers including parents, students, and staff from the school who pitched in with employees of Home Depot to build a playground Wednesday 6/17/09 at Edgewood Academy, a K-5 school in Fort Myers. The funding was provided by the community raising $7500 which was then matched by The Home Depot Foundation and KaBOOM.

Volunteers including parents, students, and staff from the school pitched in with employees of Home Depot to build a playground Wednesday 6/17/09 at Edgewood Academy, a K-5 school in Fort Myers. The funding was provided by the community raising $7500 which was then matched by The Home Depot Foundation and KaBOOM.

Many volunteers including parents, students, and staff from the school pitched in with employees of Home Depot to build a playground Wednesday 6/17/09 at Edgewood Academy, a K-5 school in Fort Myers. The funding was provided by the community raising $7500 which was then matched by The Home Depot Foundation and KaBOOM.

